Max Card

Max Card is a discount card scheme which aims to make days out more affordable for children who are fostered and for children and young people up to age 25 who have Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND). It is valid at over 240 venues across the UK.

The Max Card lasts approximately two years from receipt and there are no limitations on who can use the card with your child (i.e. a care assistant or other family member can accompany your child). The card belongs to the child or young person, so please put their name on the back of the receipt.

Each venue offers their own personal discounts for Max Card holders. Further information about Max Card and all discounts are clearly stated on the Max Card website mymaxcard.co.uk.

Have a look and see if this could be useful for your family. PCAN supplies Max Cards for children and young people with SEND up to age 25 in Kirklees.

To be eligible for a card, your child/children must have Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND) or be a foster child.

HOW TO ORDER

Follow the link below to the PCAN website and use their online form to request a card. Full details of how to make the payment are also there.

Digital Support for Carers

In June, Carers Count launched a brand-new service for carers who would like support to improve their digital skills or boost their confidence using digital devices.

Did you know that nearly eight million people in the UK lack basic digital skills? And more than half of working age adults can't complete a set of 20 digital tasks considered essential for work? In a world where computers and phones change so fast, it's very easy to end up feeling left behind. Polling from the national digital inclusion charity Good Things Foundation found that 92% of people think most essential services require internet access.

If you are one of the millions of people left out by services moving online, or if you're feeling pressured to use the internet but you're not confident in what you're doing, then our digital drop-in is here to help. Unsurprisingly, research shows that people living with some form of disability or impairment, and people aged over 65, are more likely to struggle with new technology, and the government's recent Digital Inclusion Action Plan specifically mentions carers as a group needing support because of the time they give to caring for people in those groups.

James, our new digital support worker, is running a fortnightly drop-in service in Huddersfield and another in Dewsbury, where carers can come for help brushing up on their digital skills. We have a simple online course you can work through at your own pace, with friendly staff and volunteers on hand to help if you get stuck. Or you can come in with any specific question or tech problem you have and we'll do our best to help. Some things we've helped with so far include organising digital photos into albums, scanning QR codes, taking screenshots, and even restoring access to devices and accounts people had been locked out of.

Do you have a phone, tablet, or laptop that you're not getting the best out of? Would you like a friendly face to guide you through using the NHS app, booking an online food shop, or filling in online forms? Do you have questions about how to keep yourself or your family safe online, or how to recognise a scam? If the answer to any of those questions is yes, why not come along?

Huddersfield drop-in session

- Every fortnight on a Wednesday, 1-3pm
- Brian Jackson House, Huddersfield, HD1 5JP

Dewsbury drop-in session

- Every fortnight on a Tuesday, 10am-12 noon
- Empire House, Dewsbury, WF12 8D

Please give Carers Count a call on 0300 012 0231 or info@carerscount.org.uk to let us know you would like to come along and get dates.

Supporting Carers In the Workplace: Part of the Healthy working life project

At Carers Count we know just how much carers have to juggle every day — balancing work, care responsibilities and everything in between. That's why we're excited to share something we've been working on that we hope will make a real difference.

Ann Marie Brabiner from Carers Count and Sharon Daley from Cloverleaf Advocacy are working on a new initiative called Healthy working life. One part of the project is designed to support employers in recognising and valuing carers within their workforce. Ann Marie brings a wealth of experience in this area, and Sharon — who is a carer herself — is helping to coordinate the project and ensure carers' voices are at the heart of everything we do.

We know from speaking to carers that working while caring can be incredibly challenging. Some people have to reduce their hours or even leave work altogether. Others keep their caring role hidden, unsure how it will be received or supported by their employer.

Through the Healthy Working Life project, we'll be working directly with employers to:

- Help them identify carers in their teams (including those who may not realise they are carers themselves)
- Offer guidance on how to support carers effectively
- Promote carer-friendly policies and practices
- Encourage open conversations so carers feel seen, valued and understood

It's early days, but we've already started having some great conversations with local employers who are keen to make positive changes. One manager simply said, "I had no idea how many people on my team might be carers – this has really opened my eyes." Comments like this remind us why this work is so important.

We're really proud to be part of something that puts carers front and centre in conversations about work and wellbeing. Watch this space — we'll keep you posted as the project grows! Together we can build workplaces where carers aren't just accommodated — they're appreciated.

A huge thank you to the amazing team at FMG Huddersfield for their generous donation of £200 raised through their tuck shop sales. Ann Marie Brabiner from Carers Count was delighted that she could be there in person to receive the donation, kindly presented by the team at FMG.

Your support means the world to us at Carers Count and helps us to continue making a difference for unpaid carers. A special shout out to Becki Bawn, People Experience Lead, for championing this cause and getting her team involved.

Together we are making a real difference for unpaid carers in our community.

Your Team Cares - So Should You

When employers support working carers, they improve retention, productivity, and wellbeing.

Why it Matters

Unpaid carers are the hidden workforce in many organisations. Without proper support, employers risk losing valuable talent.

The Numbers

- One in seven employees are also caring for a loved one or family member.
- 600 people a day leave the workforce across the UK every day due to caring responsibilities - that's over 219,000 skilled individuals every year.
- £30,000 can be the cost of replacing an employee when you factor in recruitment, training, and lost productivity.

We Are Here to Help You

- Identify → carers in your workplace
- Engage → with understanding and flexibility
- Support → through practical policies and culture
- Retain → highly trained and experienced staff

Together We Can:

- Boost retention
- Increase staff wellbeing
- Build a truly inclusive culture
- Reduce absenteeism

Carer-inclusive policies aren't just compassionate — they're strategic.

Why it matters

Around one in seven of your employees could be juggling work and unpaid caring responsibilities. Supporting working carers is good for staff and good for business. It improves wellbeing, retention and productivity.

Local carer organisations are delivering free, tailored support across West Yorkshire to help your business become more carer friendly. This includes employer forums, awareness training for managers and bespoke organisational support.

The offer is open to all sectors:

- human resources professionals
- equality, diversity and inclusion leads
- wellbeing officers
- employee network managers
- senior leaders and line managers

Thank you for all your support, you guys are great. I went to a memory cafe, and I spoke about the positive experience I have had with you guys and directed the group to you. Thank you ever so much for your call.

We said it; therefore, we did it.

- ✓ Following on from carer feedback, we have made several changes to the newsletter. We have altered the length and made it shorter each quarter. We have changed how the monthly groups and events are displayed in the calendar and received positive feedback regarding this. Thank you to all those carers who fed into this process – hopefully we now have a better newsletter.
- ✓ We were able to secure funding for our Sanctuary Days, Time to Breathe Workshops, funding for refreshments for Carers Rights Day and Carers Week funding for our events and sessions taking place that week. This meant we were able to provide even more activities, training and wellbeing sessions for carers in Kirklees. You told us these sessions make a huge difference – therefore we tried to deliver for you.
- ✓ We welcomed new volunteers to Carers Count this year. They've been supporting staff at groups, facilitating sessions, helping carers complete forms, networking, and staying in touch with carers. We're currently revamping our volunteer training and induction offer, and we're always looking for new people to join us. If you feel you can give some time – get in touch!
- ✓ We have linked in with various different organisations, including Locala, Huddersfield Royal Infirmary, University of Huddersfield, private businesses and offered online or in person training around carer issues and what support can be offered.

Plan for the next year:

- ✓ We are aware there is a very high demand for our Information and Advice Service. Over the next year we are going to review how this is going to work to continue to deliver a high standard service and make sure the service works effectively for carers.
- ✓ During challenging financial times, we will continue to look for a cost-effective way to run the service. This could include looking at different venues for group sessions whilst keeping a presence in North Kirklees and South Kirklees and trying to be as accessible to carers as possible.
- ✓ Following the success of our Hospital Discharge work, we want to continue to build relationships across health care and hospitals.
- ✓ To make sure we are using our resources effectively, we will continue to work closely with both partners and other voluntary organisations locally, building strong working relationships and sharing good working practices and skills.

Carers Count volunteered for the day at Kirkwood Donations Centre. We had lots of fun organising the donations that Kirkwood had received, and we had the opportunity to style the clothing on mannequins and take photos for the Kirkwood website.

The Kirkwood staff were fantastic, and we had the chance to have a tour of the donations centre to see all the amazing work that they do.

For more information about Kirkwood, please visit the Kirkwood website thekirkwood.org.uk

THE KIRKWOOD SUPPORT LIFE.

Kirklees Carers Wellness Sessions

It felt like my caring role crept up on me over the years and I soon found myself caring for both my elderly parents with different physical health needs. Though I had support from my brother and his family with daily care needs, the medical appointments, hospital admissions and hospital visits appeared to fall on me. Balancing this with being a single parent, working full time in a demanding role and my own personal wellbeing and career goals was often tough to say the least.

I was connected to services and organisations which helped through some difficult times and were often a source of reassurance.

I came across the Carers Wellness Session Posters in my GP waiting room, the sessions looked interesting, but I questioned whether I had the time to take off work to attend and how they could help me. I knew I needed to do something for myself so booked on to both sessions and I'm so glad I did.

The sessions helped me to acknowledge and put into perspective my caring role and its impact on my life, identify my emotions and learn how to manage them. I was able to recognise the different stages of caring and that I didn't need to feel guilty for wanting to look after my own wellbeing. I learnt not only from the session facilitators but from the carers who were also in attendance, I didn't feel alone anymore.

I was able to learn resilience and self-care techniques, set small goals, understand how my parents were perhaps feeling.

I now have small regular goals for myself, I feel as if it's improved my caring role and I don't feel as guilty or resentful of my situation.

Female Carers Group

A supportive space just for women who are current or former carers.

1:30pm – 3:00pm, on the third Tuesday of each month

Birkby and Fartown Library, Lea Street, Huddersfield, HD1 6HF

This group offers a safe and welcoming space for female carers to connect, share experiences, support one another, and talk openly in a supportive environment. Whether you want to offload, share your story, or simply enjoy a chat, a cuppa and some biscuits, you'll be warmly welcomed.

You can either:

Book your place by calling Carers Count on 0300 012 0231 or just turn up on the day.

We'd love to see you there!

Have you or the person you care for been seen by our District Nurses?

The District Nurses in Kirklees are also known as Locala's Community Nurse Network. We would love to hear about your experience with this service! Feedback helps us know what we are doing right and what we need to do better. All responses are free, anonymous and greatly appreciated.
